

Data Center Cold Wars – Part 4: Single-Phase Immersion Cooling Versus Rear-Door Heat Exchangers

Things are really heating up out there. Even conventional computing operations are frequently pushing the 30 kW/rack barrier now. HPC apps like AI are becoming commonplace. And because IT is such an integral part of business growth, IT execs are under renewed pressure to have a fail-proof game plan for scaling up.